

UCL DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY

Lecturer in the History of the Ancient Near East

Applications are invited for a full-time lectureship in the history of the Ancient Near East (including Egypt, from c. 3000 into the Hellenistic period), tenable from 1st September 2010. This is a permanent position and we are seeking a historian able to teach across much of this large field but with a research interest in the first millennium BC.

The appointment will be at Lecturer A/Lecturer B level. Lecturer A minimum start point 33 £32,458 - £35,469, for Lecturer B £36,532 - £43,622 per annum (plus £2,781 London Allowance).

Applicants for the post should have a record of research excellence and a commitment to high quality teaching at undergraduate and postgraduate levels. The successful candidate will also be expected to take a full part in the life of the Department and College, including administrative duties.

Further particulars are available online at www.ucl.ac.uk/history or from c.morley@ucl.ac.uk. Applicants should send SIX copies of their application to Claire Morley, Departmental Administrator, History Department, University College London, Gower Street, London WC1E 6BT. Please also arrange for TWO academic referees to write confidentially to the Head of Department, Professor N. Miller, by the closing date.

The closing date for applications is Thursday 5th February 2009 (1pm).

UCL Taking Action For Equality